Canadian Parents for French, Nova Scotia welcomes our 2023 Summer Students

Halifax, June 19, 2023—Canadian Parents for French, Nova Scotia (CPF NS), a leading organization dedicated to promoting bilingualism among Canadians, is pleased to announce the addition of two summer students, Olajumoke Odofin and Najah Dhuny, to their team.

Jummy is a soon-to-be graduate of Dalhousie University's Bachelor of Commerce Program, majoring in Marketing. With a passion for brand management and project management in the consumer goods industry, Jummy sought an opportunity with CPF NS to contribute to a meaningful initiative. As a result-oriented individual, she looks forward to collaborating with CPF's partners, enhancing her French language skills, and further developing her computer and management abilities.

Najah, a fourth-year student at Mount Saint Vincent University (MSVU) pursuing a degree in Public Relations, brings her enthusiasm for communications and languages to CPF. Fluent in French and English, and currently learning Arabic, Najah's diverse background includes expertise in copy editing, creative writing, translation, social media, and event planning. Following graduation, she aspires to specialize in crisis communication within the field of Public Relations. Najah is thrilled to immerse herself in the world of CPF, contributing her skills and knowledge to the organization's important work.

The CPF team warmly welcomes Jummy and Najah, and looks forward to their valuable contributions to the promotion of bilingualism across Canada. With their diverse backgrounds and passion for languages, they will play integral roles in advancing CPF's mission.
